

montigl pinot nero riserva alto adige DOC

description:

It is their individual terroir that make the wines of Terlano so remarkable. Each wine is produced from grapes grown on tiny plots of land owned by the many grape growers that make up the cooperative of Cantina Terlano. The production zone for this alluring Pinot Noir in the tiny Hamlet of Montigl begins at 1475 feet A.S.L. and climbs to more than 2125 feet A.S.L. Here the easy draining heat retentive soil and the warm days and cool nights provide ideal conditions to produce the demanding Pinot Nero grape. Montigl is aged 12 months in large oak casks (80%) and small barriques (20%).
